

Short Biography of Dr. Rajnish Sharma:

Dr. Rajnish Sharma is Dean (Academic Affairs) at Chitkara University, Punjab. He earned his PhD while working in India's top research laboratory, National Physical Laboratory, New Delhi and served in Birla Institute of Technology and Science (BITS), Pilani as a Faculty for 6 years. He has more than 80 research papers to his credit in international journals and conferences of repute. Besides this, he has published one book titled "Solid State Electronic Devices" from Oxford University Press to his credit. He has been the guest editor for a special issue of SN Computer Science, a journal published by Springer and also been the editor for one of the conference proceedings books published by Springer.

He has successfully completed a project sponsored by the Government of India on deposition and characterization of Diamond Like Carbon Films for futuristic applications related to microelectronic devices. He has been on the reviewer's panel list for many journals of international repute like Applied Physical Letters, Journal of Vacuum Science and Technology, Carbon, Journal of Non-Crystalline Solids, Current Applied Physics, IEEE Transactions on Electron Devices, Journal of Material Science, Circuit world and many other journals from publishers like IEEE, IET, Elsevier and Springer. Very recently, one of his projects in collaboration with Glasgow Caledonian University, UK and Punjab University, Chandigarh has been sanctioned by the British Council.

He along with Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, Dr Archana Mantri and other colleagues, Dr Vijay Kumar Jadon and Dr Shivani Malhotra has been the resource person for a series of workshops conducted by AICTE on topic related to 'Examination Reforms'.

He is a senior member of IEEE and remains associated very deeply with IEEE Delhi section in his capacity as Secretary of the section and also as a member of Standing committee for Technical and Professional Activities (Conferences). Besides that, he also volunteers for ACM India initiatives by being a member of their Internal Affairs committee.

